

Residential News Autumn 2009

We are still very busy at the house and are teaching the children how to socially mix with others as well as helping them to become independent around the house.

It is important that the children keep in touch with their families. We have parents visiting each week and the children are encouraged to ring home.

Cooking and arts and craft are very popular and anyone visiting the house will see the children's work

The play equipment outside is still popular even in the dark nights.

Some of the children have homework which the staff encourage them to do. We will get reading books from the library when they need them.
